ACTOR MULHALL HELD AS INVADER OF WRONG FLAT

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 7.—(AP) Jack Mulhall, actor, and Charles E. Frederick, aviator, sauntered into an apartment in near-by Santa Monica canyon early Sunday. It was the right apartment house but they got into the wrong flat and, police records relate, into the wrong boudoir.

related by Fine, the story continued: "Sh-sh," the actor cautioned, finger to his lips. "Shall right, all right." Mr. Morris Fine exploded. "What the—?" Mulhall came directly to the point. "Are you a Russian?" he asked. "No." The actor shook his head sadly. "I don't like Russians." When the police came in, Mulhall was sitting on Fine's jaw. Within the ensuing four minutes many things happened. Several neighbors came in and other things happened, part of them to Mulhall's nose. Presently the police came in. The actor and Frederick pleaded innocent to a charge of suspicion of battery and asked for a jury trial when their case comes up August 31. Frederick said he and Mulhall had imbibed a bit before they made the call.

Crawfish Run Blackens Highway in Louisiana

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 7.—A huge "crawfish run" zoological phenomenon which occurs at rare intervals in Louisiana, today was reported under way on the New Orleans-Baton Rouge Airline Highway near Gramercy by Superintendent E. P. Roy, of the state highway patrol.

Roy said the road was black for five miles with crawfish migrating from a swamp on one side of the highway to low country on the other side, apparently motivated by desire for more food, or by some similar instinctive reason. Millions of crawfish engage in such runs by Roy said many persons were filling sacks with as many as they could pick up, assuring pots of succulent bisque and gumbo, while many thousands of the crawfish were being crushed by highway traffic.

15,000 Reply to 'Ad' Offering 1,500 Jobs

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—(AP)—A "help wanted" advertisement in a Sunday newspaper asking for 1,500 girls to wrap candy brought 15,000 applicants and nearly a riot today. Women's dresses were torn in the scramble for advantageous positions in line, several were badly bruised and a policeman was pushed through a glass door and cut on the arm.

The additional help was required by a candy company, its officials explained, because under the national industrial recovery act the company decided to operate on four six-hour shifts. The advertisement called for 1,500 experienced candy makers or wrappers, women only—but half the crowd of applicants turned out to be men.

SOUTHERN RICE MEN OFFER TENTATIVE CODE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Southern rice millers today conferred on a proposed code of fair practices for their industry with A. J. Weaver, acting chief of the farm administration's rice section.

The millers agreed with them a tentative agreement which would eliminate rebates and other gratuities by members of the industry and also would fix the maximum brokerage fee to be paid for rice handling at 8 cents. Included in the proposed code, drawn before the millers conferred with Weaver, were provisions for a 48-hour week and a $12 minimum for weekly pay.

Members of the committee which talked to Weaver today included J. E. Broussard, of Beaumont, Texas; W. M. Reid, of New Orleans; C. R. Walton, of Stuttgart, Ark.; and F. A. Godchaux Jr., of Abbeville, La.

The committee said the millers they represented constituted about 96 per cent of the industry.

PENN. BEER AND WINE YIELD $1,505,674 TAX

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Maintaining a half-million dollars a month pace the state tax on 3.2 per cent beer and wines has put $1,505,674 in the treasury for unemployment relief since May 5.

The revenue department, announcing the total today, reported July receipts of $520,976, a decrease of about $20,000 from June's $540,465. The May total was $442,232.

The current rate, if continued through the two-year period, would yield about $12,000,000 from the levy which the legislature estimated would produce $10,000,000 to aid those out of work. The tax rate is $1.24 a barrel, or half a cent a bottle.

VICTIM IS IDENTIFIED IN MYSTERY SLAYING

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Aug. 7.—(AP) The victim of a mysterious slaying, found near an amusement park here last night, was identified today as Oliver S. Baily, 27, prominent both in Cincinnati business and society. Baily was special representative of an insurance company here and son-in-law of Jesse T. Lippincott, president and treasurer of the Cincinnati Union Stockyards. He was a son of George J. Baily, Cincinnati attorney.

Officers said he apparently had been killed by a blow, struck from behind with a brick. As they sought a woman and a man they believe were at the scene, the officers were puzzled over a crude map, drawn with pencil which indicated by a dot the place where the body was found. The map was found near the body. Baily's wife and child were at Lak Placid, N. Y., on vacation.

Romance Doesn't Rate Very High In Screen Stars' Ideas of Thrills

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Romance does not give the screen stars, its chief exponents, their greatest rapture, so they say.

Charlie Chaplin, for instance, said with a wistful smile, "is there any more exquisite sensation in life than crawling into a comfortable bed when one is tired out?"

For Dorothy Jordan, the pet ecstasy is a hard game of tennis, followed by an invigorating cold shower.

Dolores Del Rio has just learned to swim under the guidance of Johnny Weissmuller, and the first day she crossed the pool alone, she said, opened up new vistas of enchantment.

Irene Dunne and Clark Gable say they get their greatest thrills from golf. "But I must get into my old clothes and leave everything that smacks of the studio behind," says Gable.

Mae West, with a wistful look, told of her nightly drive, alone in the back of her car, windows open, rushing toward the Pacific ocean and breathing "gobs of fresh air."

"It doesn't matter how late it is. I cannot miss that drive!"

For Marie Dressler, the grand moment comes when she gets out of a tight corset into a comfy old wrapper, snuggled down into a chair beside a fire, with a cup of tea and a newspaper.

"Gazing out of my mountain cabin on glistening snow," says Walter Huston, "while I remain warm and snug in bed. It intoxicates me."

Alice Brady insists the touch of satin is rapturous for her. "It positively makes me feel purr."

Claudette Colbert tried to say her biggest thrill was working in her garden. Then: "Oh, well, then my incomparable sensation is going out on the stage to make a curtain call alone and hearing the applause of the audience, all for me."

There were others, but not a one asking "a jug of wine, a loaf of bread and thou."

NEW ORLEANS COURT PICKS NEW GRAND JURY

All Persons Connected With Government Barred From Group.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 7.—(AP)—A new grand jury for the parish of New Orleans was drawn from 250 names today by Judge Frank T. Echezal, who last week dismissed the old panel in mid-term "to preserve respect for the courts."

The old jury had for weeks been in open dispute with District Attorney Eugene Stanley, Judge Alexander C. O'Donnell, of the criminal district courts, and the criminal sheriff's office as a result of its repeated unsuccessful attempts to "no bill" election fraud charges.

The fraud charges are now being investigated by the district attorney in an open court re-count of ballots cast on constitutional amendments in last November's general election. First boxes examined showed wide discrepancies and 15 election commissioners have been charged with making false returns.

In accepting the new jury, Judge Echezal asked each juror separately if he worked for or did business with the state or city administration, or had any relatives so connected.

GOODYEAR WILL ADD $500,000 BUILDING

Evidence of faith in continued business improvement is seen in announcement by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company that construction of a half-million-dollar addition to its power plant will be in the near future. The project represents the first important construction in Akron for almost three years.

A new large-size boiler will cost $250,000, while a turbo-generating unit will cost approximately $120,000. In addition to expenditure for new equipment, Goodyear will erect a new building in which it will be housed, providing additional labor for Akron workers.

"Goodyear has heaved to in times of great stress and again hoisted full sail as succeeding economic cycles went through their various intricate phases," P. W. Littlefield, president of Goodyear, declared in announcing the new project. "For more than a third of a century Goodyear has proceeded forward at a comparatively steady pace, improving its physical facilities and its products, and encouraging and developing its personnel."

"Of particular significance to me is the job we are about to undertake in the erection of a new power plant since it involves an expenditure of more than a half million dollars and represents the first important construction project our city has witnessed in almost three years. We expect to have the new plant completed and equipped by next November, whereupon it will fit into the big Goodyear picture as another part of our charted course of institutional sufficiency. Much of the cost of the new plant goes for equipment but insofar as we can, the various contracts will be let to Akron concerns so that our employment problem may be relieved by just that much," he concluded.

TAX CUTS EXPLAINED BY DECATUR MANAGER

In a letter to The Constitution Mrs. Wellington Stevenson, president of the Georgia League of Women Voters, said that an editorial carried in this newspaper on August 1 was in error in saying that Decatur had reduced its tax rate.

R. M. Abernathy, city manager of Decatur, said, on being asked about the accuracy of the statement, that Mrs. Stevenson was technically correct in stating that the rate had not been reduced. It remains the same at $1.50 a hundred.

"But the tax assessment has been reduced twice," Mr. Abernathy said, "which automatically reduces the amount of taxes even with the rate unchanged. The reduction amounts to 15 per cent. Three years ago, Decatur had $11,500,000 on its tax digest. Now the amount is only $9,750,000. The assessments were reduced last year and again this year."

City's Applications For $20,000,000 Filed

The first application for federal public works projects money was that of Atlanta for sewage improvements, totaling $8,105,000, it was learned Monday when municipal authorities completed the filing of applications on projects totaling almost $20,000,000.

Applications for advances to cover a municipal auditorium, a ward at Battle Hill sanitarium and street improvements also were filed. Other applications had been filed last week with the Georgia administrators of public works funds, Thomas J. Hamilton, Ryburn G. Clay, and Arthur Lucas.

No action has been taken on the plans as an engineer from Washington is to survey the projects before the committee will make any recommendations.

Fair weather, with slightly warmer temperatures, will be on the weather mart in Atlanta today, according to George Minding, United States meteorologist.

The weather will range about 5 degrees higher throughout the day as compared with the readings of Monday when the lowest was 83 degrees and the highest 83 degrees. Today's range should be from 68 to 87, according to Mr. Minding.

Watch Functions Well After 45-Year Burial

CLINTON, S. C., Aug. 7.—(AP)—J. H. Carr has a watch that, he says, seems to keep better time after being aged in the ground.

An uncle of Carr's bought the watch about 50 years ago and lost it. Forty-five years later it was plucked up in a field.

Carr took it to a jeweler who oiled it. The watch, Carr says, keeps perfect time.

$1,600 U.S. Arms Stolen Here; 4 Confess Athens Gun Thefts

While four men, under arrest at Athens, confessed the theft of arms from the arsenal of the University of Georgia and also admitted that some of the weapons were sold to "Cuban rebels," the robbery of 92 automatic pistols from the national guard armory in Atlanta was reported to police Monday night.

Thieves broke three locks to reach the supply room of the headquarters company of the 122d infantry, Georgia national guard, it was discovered Monday night when the auditorium was opened for regular weekly drill. It was thought that the automatics, as well as two pair of field glasses, were stolen Sunday night. It is believed the burglars gained access by a fire escape and then broke the locks.

The value of the arms, according to government figures, is $1,600, but private individuals would have to pay twice the amount, officers of the company said, in reporting the loss to police. The loss was reported by Captain Rex W. LaFevre, of the headquarters company.

John Fuller, Paul Sorrell and George Kinard confessed today to Hawkins that they had taken part in two raids on the arsenal, and that a former living room of Athens, confessed he had stored part of the stolen arms.

Preliminary hearing of the men will be held August 14 before Mrs. Sara K. Hawkins, United States commissioner.

Sergeant John David Short, supply sergeant for the university military unit, who was arrested several days ago, maintained he was innocent of implication in the thefts and Mr. Hawkins said he was inclined to believe the soldier's story.

Six Browning machine guns, ammunition, several 50-shot automatic rifles, several 20-shot automatic rifles and two or three .22 caliber target rifles were stolen in two raids which occurred on the nights of June 13 and June 27.

Fuller and Sorrell told of running the six Browning guns to Florida, where two of them were sold to "Cuban rebels" who refused to buy the other for becoming they Jacked tripods, without which they were useless.

The leader of the plot, Fuller and Sorrell said, was a former Fred Elmore, who represented himself to them as a "commander" in the Cuban "rebel army." He told them he was going to get guns "all over the country" for shipment to Cuba.

MOULTRIAN ACQUITTED ON BEER SALE CHARGE

MOULTRIE, Ga., Aug. 7.—A jury in city court here today acquitted H. G. Mercer, who was tried for violating the prohibitive law as the result of the open sale of 3.2 beer. The jury's verdict came within a few minutes after it retired.

Several witnesses, including two doctors, testified that the brew was non-intoxicating and it was assumed this influenced the verdict despite the fact Georgia's bone-dry law forbids the sale of anything that looks, smells or tastes like beer.

Charges have been brought against several other persons for selling 3.2 beer, but it was indicated none of these would be tried. The case tried here this afternoon was the first of the kind tried in south Georgia, although beer has been openly sold in this section since shortly after Florida legalized it.

AUGUSTA LEGALIZES SALES OF 3.2 BEER

Cedartown Strikers Protest 'Stretchout'

CEDARTOWN, Ga., Aug. 7.—The declaration that the stretch-out system is employed in the Cedartown Cotton and Export Company, with a result that some Selenas, New York, have more than one job and receive pay based on the lowest paid work, was contained in a statement issued today by a committee representing 800 striking workers.

The committee, composed of Emmett Willis, Everett Thomas, Newt Martin and Jess Powell, stated that outside men had been placed on a 40-hour work week basis with the understanding they would be paid for a 58-1-2-hour week, but that they were paid on the same hourly basis and at the end of a week were returned to long hours.

The committee said it had been informed a representative of the national recovery administration would investigate the situation Tuesday.

Audience Takes Roles in New Play At Erlanger To Own Enjoyment

Twenty-nine Atlanta people missed lots of fun last night. There were just that many vacant seats at the Erlanger theater when the Peruch Players presented "Across the Street," their offering of the week. Which, if anybody asks you, is so near capacity as to be matter.

The play has a novel idea in the third act, when the scene is the town hall of the little city where all the action is laid. The stage is set for the platform of the town hall and the theater itself becomes that civic auditorium. With the audience as the townspeople gathered for a most exciting meeting.

And the excitement of the play transmitted itself to the audience, with the result that they became excellent actors, every one of them, and also that they enjoyed themselves to the utmost.

The play is a trifle slow getting started and, in the first act, one or two members of the cast stumbled once or twice on their lines, but this will undoubtedly be smoothed over for tonight and the other performances of the week.

The story concerns a newspaper and a drygoods store in the aforementioned small city. The storekeeper wants to be an editor and the editor wants to be a storekeeper. Secretly, they swap jobs, with the result that both store and newspaper enjoy success 100 per cent greater than they have ever known before.

The newspaper editorials, however, arouse the enmity of the political boss of the town and there is a near-riot, a little necessary flourishing of guns and the third act meeting, which brings all the village skeletons out of their respective closets, reveals the necessary proof and brings the whole affair to a conclusion highly satisfactory to every character concerned, not to omit the audience.

There are, by the way, two love stories running through the play and, of course, they end properly just before the final curtain.

Gordon Peters carried the main burden of the performance last night in his usual likable style, while Mildred Peters, Robert Stewart, Mr. Peruch, Klock Ryder, John Rae, Mrs. Peruch, Betty Crandall and others filled their roles thoroughly acceptably. A newcomer to the cast, Hudson Edwards, appeared a trifle nervous early in the play but will surely overcome this as the week progresses. Mr. Peruch announced between acts that next week the company will present the Belasco success, "Tiger Rose," and that there will be a new leading man to make his bow to Atlanta in the person of Gilbert Rowan. —RALPH T. JONES.

SEPARATE BOARD FOR STEINER WARD VOTED BY COUNCIL

Chairman, presented the measure. Councilman Hastings obtained the floor, offering an amendment which would bar patients from the institution. There was little debate on the Hastings amendment, but when the vote neared on the original measure, it was subjected to a heated attack by Councilman George B. Lyle and Councilman J. Frank Beck, chairman of council's hospitals and charities committee.

Murphy Supports Owen. Owen was supported by Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, chairman of a special council committee, named to attempt to compose differences between the trustees of the Steiner estate and the Grady hospital board; Councilman Joseph E. Berman and others.

Murphy read letters from outstanding authorities recommending a separate board to operate the institution. Pay patients, which formerly were received at Steiner, have been a source of contention for many months and precipitated the present row, which it was admitted Monday afternoon would not be settled entirely through establishment of the new board.

Speculation as to what Mayor Key would do with the ordinance when it reaches him was rife Monday. Some held that he would veto it without delay; others held that because of the imposing majority it got in council he would be prone to give it serious consideration. Although the measure received nearly a 3-to-1 vote Monday, it was pointed out that 26 votes would be necessary to override Key's veto with all the 39 members of council in attendance.

Councilman G. Everett Millican, of the tenth, led an unsuccessful fight to prevent asking a referendum on Sunday movies and baseball. He attacked such entertainments as illegal under the state constitution.

Millican and White and Alderman Frank H. Reynolds and James E. Bowden forced the special committee measure through for probe of the police solicitation. White said citizens had been intimidated, that they were unbecomingly and, that pressure came from the offices of high police officials.

Councilman J. Raymond Curtis, member of the police committee, announced "if things are like they have been described, there will be some wholesale firing in the department."

White recounted how a prominent lady was harassed by solicitors "first being asked for $500, then $50 was accepted, but later another demand for $200 was made, which was not obtained."

Tiller Named Unanimously. Tiller was named unanimously to succeed Huiet. The third ward alderman attended the council session during the afternoon, presented his own resignation and made a short address, expressing regret at severing a connection he has held for many years.

Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, chairman of a special council committee, presented resolutions regretting his retirement.

Just what action the Fulton County Medical Society, headed by Dr. W. E. Barber, will take following the council move to create the new board of trustees, remained Monday night a matter of conjecture. The society threatened to withdraw its services at Grady, estimated at about $1,500,000 a year, if a change was made in the conduct of the Steiner ward. It was argued by some that the three who carried out. Others held that the recent schism in the ranks of the society precipitated when members of the Steiner staff, who also are members of the society, asked a separate board, will prevent consummation of the threat.

In any event, doctors Monday afternoon prepared to wage a fight at council's next meeting to prevent overriding the mayor's veto to the new ordinance, anticipating that Key would veto it.

Two residents of Conyers were in Atlanta hospitals Monday night as the result of an automobile accident eight miles from Conyers late Monday afternoon. They were John T. Baker, 30, who is confined to Emory University and Dennis Cook, 31, who was admitted to Grady hospital.

Cook said Baker was driving a truck occupied by himself and another man and collided with a telephone pole after striking a sandbar in the highway. Baker was the most seriously injured while the third person was not hurt. Grady attaches said Cook was severely but not seriously hurt.

Negroes Shot.

A quarrel between a negro man and his stepson resulted in both being shot and the stepfather being in jail Monday night, according to police reports. William Hatcher, 45, negro, of 404 Old Wheat street, said he was shot in the side by his stepson, E. C. Hatcher, 26, of the same address. The elder man then shot the stepson four times. E. C. Hatcher was taken to Grady hospital and William was arrested and taken to the city jail. The quarrel developed over William's refusal to let the stepson drive his car, he said.

Drinks Three Poisons In Suicide Attempt

Taking three kinds of poison and washing it down with two bottles of beer, Mrs. M. P. Tye, 23, of 180 Garnett street, attempted to end her life Monday night because she was despondent over not having "any clothes to wear," according to police reports. She was admitted to Grady hospital.

Mrs. Tye told police her husband is employed only temporarily and that she did not have enough clothes. She said she took a quantity of lysol, potash and veronal, following which she drank two bottles of 3.2 beer. Her condition is undetermined.

PRIMARY REGISTRATION REACHES 11,000 MARK

Civic Organizations Concentrate Efforts for Final Drive.

As registration for the September 20 primary hit the 11,000 mark, the Atlanta League of Women Voters and about 40 civic organizations conducting a campaign for a heavy registration Monday concentrated their forces for a final drive. Registration lists close at noon Saturday, August 19.

J. Hanson Tatum, co-operating in the drive, announced that clerks would be lent for the campaign all this week, but that next week all registrations must be made at the city hall. He expected that total registration would be about 20,000 out of a possible 35,000 in the voting age.

An added stimulus to a heavy registration was seen in passage Monday of a resolution asking the city democratic executive committee to seek referenda on Sunday movies and baseball.

The following announcement of out-of-the-city hall registration booths was made Monday by Tatum:

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 7. (AP)—A Seattle wireless operator, an Anchorage aviator and surgeons were credited today with saving the life of a boy who had been in the hospital for four days.

Dangerously ill four days ago at his home on Kodiak island, "hundreds of miles from nowhere" in the Aleutian chain and far from medical aid, the boy was reported recovering today from an emergency appendicitis operation performed Saturday.

MACHADO TO QUIT AS CUBAN CHIEF

scenes occurred. Many of the jubilant throng carried Cuban flags. Their demonstrations met the same quick, tragic end.

The city was grimly quiet tonight while almost hopeless efforts to count the dead and wounded went on. A hasty check showed 23 dead and more than 100 wounded. Many of the latter were struck by bullets which ricocheted from the pavement and from the sides of buildings.

No busy were hospitals that there were none to answer telephones. Police earlier in the day gave orders that no information of any sort concerning the strike should be released.

Despite the action of Machado the executive will leave office tomorrow, according to a freely described source as the gravest situation in Cuba's history as an independent nation, representatives of the opposition, liberals, conservatives and popular parties agreed today that there could be no solution of the political situation while Machado remained in office.

A commission of five liberal party representatives called at the palace so to inform him.

The president replied, it was learned on the highest authority, that he was ready to leave office if the people so willed, but that he would not quit as the result of any "foreign meddling."

Machado appealed to the nation tonight to "defend the republic's independence at all costs."

He spoke from police headquarters in a nation-wide broadcast.

Lamenting the bloodshed while at the same time praising police for their conduct, Machado declared his government had always been well disposed toward labor. A virtual nationwide strike, started by the walk-out of omnibus drivers here, preceded the day's developments. In a number of quarters the strike was recognized as a passive revolt.

Despite its attitude toward labor, the president continued, the government was obliged to maintain order.

"We must defend the republic's independence at all costs," the executive declared. "I have labored constantly to bring about an accord between us, so that hatred among Cubans may not exist."

"I often hear speeches and see articles in newspapers concerning my friends, my companions of the war for independence, who do not choose to come to an accord with me nor even talk with me, because I am the 'tyrant' or the 'despot.'"

"People of Cuba, let us all weep," he concluded, "for what may be a sacrifice, not a personal sacrifice, but a sacrifice that rebounds to the lessening of our sovereignty, of our independence. And it is for this that I—without hatred, without rancor—ask the Cuban people not to love anything more greatly than independence."

Ramiro Guerra, the president's secretary, late tonight handed newspapermen a statement which he asked them to consider "in a spirit of fairness."

"It is absolutely untrue that President Machado has resigned."

"It is equally untrue that the liberal, popular and conservative parties have agreed that President Machado's resignation is the only way to settle the Cuban political difficulties."

"No members of the liberal party have asked him to resign."

"Just as I am writing you President Machado is walking through the Havana streets inspecting the police service for the protection of citizens."

"The above facts are all perfectly true as you can ascertain if you have in Havana a reliable representative."

"It is unfortunate that the sending of misleading information to the States that afterward was broadcast in Havana provoked the clashes that we all lament, but the government only performed its essential functions and the responsibility shall fall where it belongs."

Welles' "Formula."

This reference was interpreted in political circles to refer to the mediation efforts of Sumner Welles, United States ambassador, who has been engaged for some time in an attempt to placate political difficulties.

The American envoy previously had revealed that he had suggested a "formula" for the settlement of the present situation, which he described as very grave. This solution was understood to provide that Machado take a "leave of absence."

The formula, Welles continued, had been accepted unanimously by the opposition and the popular party. The majority of the conservative party leaders, including 32 out of its 48 congressmen were agreeable, he added, as well as all the important leaders of the liberal party.

When Machado refused to resign immediately, the liberals informed him that they would be forced to break definitely with him. The president is a member of the liberal party.

200 Georgia Girl Reserves In Sight-Seeing Visit Here

Completing two busy and unusually interesting days in Atlanta, Girl Reserves, 244 in number, returned to their homes in Macon, Columbus, Porterdale and Reynoldsville Sunday night. The Atlanta visit brought to a close their year's program and took the place of the usual camp.

Saturday, the Reserves spent two hours shopping, had a picnic lunch at Piedmont park, visited the Candler zoo, enjoyed a swim in the pool there and then had a two-hour sight-seeing tour of the city. At night they were given a theater party.

After breakfast at the Piedmont Sunday, the devotionals was conducted and the girls then divided into groups and attended services in the various Atlanta churches. Upon special invitation extended by Dr. W. A. Shelton, of Grace Methodist church, a large party attended the morning services there.

he saw newspapermen after his conference with political chiefs of various groups.

Acceptable to All.

His formula for settlement, Mr. Welles said, was acceptable to the entire opposition, and to the heads of conservative groups whom he had been able to see. The leaders of the popular party were unanimous for it, he said.

President Machado received all important liberal leaders for a consultation this morning but the results were not announced.

It was reported this evening that the liberal group informed the president that his retirement was necessary and that Senor Machado replied that he would seek to obtain information from Washington as to the extent of Ambassador Welles' powers in his mediation efforts here.

Several clashes between strikers and police occurred at Santiago today, one striker being killed and six wounded by gunfire.

At Camaguey the railway syndicate declared its solidarity with the National railways strike and voted to walk out tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock. The workers are asking for an agreement providing restoration of their former salaries and an eight-hour day. Hotels, restaurants, drug stores and theaters were closed.

The military also was controlling the towns of Regla and Guanabacoa, near Havana.

The Cuban house of representatives, meeting in secret session tonight, approved a motion proposing that the Cuban congress protest to the United States congress against the activities of Sumner Welles, United States ambassador, who is engaged in attempting to mediate political difficulties in the island.

The house voted to declare itself in permanent session until the present political situation is cleared up and named a committee to keep in contact with the senate.

Roosevelt Stays Close TO LONG-DISTANCE PHONE

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 7. (AP) President Roosevelt kept in touch tonight with the critical Cuban situation by telephone and offered the good services of this country for mediation in the rioting.

It was made emphatic that the United States has no intention of armed intervention.

However, it was very plain that the administration regards the new outbreaks as serious.

The president cancelled some social plans for the night to remain close to the telephone.

At 8 o'clock, daylight saving time, he talked with Acting Secretary Phillips of the state department.

The secretary had just been in communication with Ambassador Welles in Havana.

Mr. Roosevelt sent word to Ambassador Welles to get in touch with all political parties in an effort to restore order. He was given to understand that Welles already was seeking that end.

As for the cause of the disorders which appear to be assuming alarming proportions no explanation was offered here on behalf of the president.

Inquiries were referred to Cuba. But most apparently, Mr. Roosevelt regards stabilization in Cuba as fundamental to his enlarged Latin-American and South American goodwill operations.

The fact that he remained beside the telephone tonight was taken most significantly.

While he is not considering intervention at all, he is determined to find a solution of the troubles which have so long bothered the island republic during much of the Machado regime.

"MATTY'S" BROKEN SON RETURNS TO AMERICA

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7. (AP)—Christy Mathewson Jr., aviator-son of the late famous baseball pitcher, returned to the United States today on the liner President Hoover, en route to New York to consult specialists he hopes will help mend his broken body.

He was accompanied by his mother, who less than a year ago accompanied her son's fiancée to China and attended their wedding. The younger Mrs. Mathewson was killed less than a fortnight later in the airplane crash which robbed young Mathewson of an arm and a leg, and nearly cost him his life.

'RED' ANGLE SEEN IN MINE STRIKES

U. S. Studies Communist Influence in Workers' Disregard of Truce.

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 7. (AP) With thousands of strikers refusing to return to the mines under the Roosevelt truce, the federal government today opened an investigation into alleged communist agitation in the western Pennsylvania soft coal fields.

Led by Assistant United States Attorney Lloyd W. Bryan, agents sought the source of pamphlets urging defiance of the armistice which was to have brought about resumption of mining today.

At the same time, officials of the United Mine Workers of America, urging the strikers to accept the truce and resume work, blamed the delay on "radicals" and "red agitators."

Fagan Hits Reds.

Assailing "communist elements," P. T. Fagan, president of District No. 5, U. M. W. A., asserted that "someone is furnishing the men with moonshine liquor and a bunch of irresponsible agitators are causing trouble."

William Feeney, head of District No. 4 (the Fayette county section), declared "These fellows don't have the interest of the miner at heart."

Discussing the pamphlets, the United States attorney said they bore the name of the National Miners Union, decreed by the courts to be a communist organization, affiliated with the Trade Union Unity League, he asserted.

He said one of the handbills reads: "Over 70,000 striking miners are being betrayed by Lewis, Fagan, Feeney and Company. President Roosevelt, who was trusted by the miners, is leading the betrayal through an arbitration board, which will never decide in favor of the miners."

The pamphlet presumably refers to John L. Lewis, international president of the U. M. W. A., who, with Governor Gifford Pinchot, Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, and operators' representatives worked out the terms of the truce called by President Roosevelt.

The truce called for the strikers to return, promised them re-employment without discrimination against them, gave them the right to employ their own checkweighmen, and named an arbitration board of three to settle disputes pending acceptance of the coal code.

Lewis and the other leaders urged resumption of work at once and indications pointed to reopening of the mines today, but leaders of union locals in District No. 4, heart of the strike area and scene of violence last week, deferred action until next Friday.

Freight Train Wreck KILLS 5 TRESPASSERS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7. (AP)—The Pennsylvania railroad says four trespassers were killed today in the derauling of a freight train locomotive and 20 cars near Portage, N. Y.

Two other "free-riders" were injured in the accident when the west-bound train jumped the tracks and blocked all lines. Passenger trains were rerouted.

INSTALLMENT XXX.

"That's ridiculous! Has there been anything in the papers about this mess?"

"Plenty," the Chief admitted, dumbly and Miss Hanvin gave him a disgusted look.

Chief Powell pulled a paper from his pocket. Curt could not see. But in a little while a part of the dizziness passed away and he looked at the headline:

"Millionaire Slightly Improved in Hospital, Former Fiancee and Suitor Still Held."

A little farther down he saw a smaller head that sent his mind reeling:

Father of Mary Sawyer Permitted to See His Daughter Late Yesterday Afternoon.

So Mansfield Sawyer was in Hollywood!

The nurse could see that her patient was highly excited. She glared at the Chief of Police. But Powell paid no attention to her.

Curt read on silently. Then suddenly he started unbelievably at the printed page. There came to him almost as great a shock as the one he had received the day 20 years before when he had come home to find a man in his home with his wife. The words burned into his fevered brain:

"Thomas Curtis Smith, Jr., son of Mrs. Gloria Smith, of Millstream, Virginia—"

With a cry Curt hurled the paper from him. Nurse Hanvin made an attempt to quiet him as he grabbed the Chief of Police and shook him by the shoulders with all the strength his weakened condition would allow.

"Bring that boy to me. Release him and bring him to me this minute—or I'll break your fool neck!"

Curt was sleeping when Dr. Maynard arrived. When the nurse told him what had happened he ordered briskly:

"Keep the police out of here. I'll let you know when he is ready to be questioned. Have Powell thrown out if he comes back—the idiot!"

Curt slept for three hours. The first natural sleep he'd had in days. He awakened with a start. Oh, yes—see that boy, Miss Hanvin could see that he was waking in an excited state. She hoped to avoid another session such as she had gone through in the afternoon. But she was wrong.

"I just learned from my nurse that an old friend had been waiting for days to see me. I couldn't keep an old friend waiting."

A bitter smile twisted Curt's lips as he gazed steadily at the man he had hated with every fibre of his being for 20 years. Dr. Sawyer saw the venom in the sick man's eyes. It was amazing that a man could hate another so much. Finally Curt was able to speak. He smiled sarcastically.

"Well, Tom—we meet at last."

"You're a sick man—or I'd knock your head off. But I guess anyone that lives 20 years full of poison and hatred and the burning desire for revenge in his bosom is his own worst enemy."

Curt opened his mouth to speak, but the doctor went on:

"You're never too late to make amends for being a fool. You're still a pretty young man. Thirty-nine, I believe."

"You always were clever, Mansfield. I imagine you'd be able to think up a pretty good alibi for making love to a man's wife—in twenty years."

Dr. Sawyer showed the first signs of anger. He half rose from his chair. Then he sat back again.

ried when Curt raised on an elbow and asked feverishly:

"Is—that boy here yet?"

Miss Hanvin thought fast. Surely Dr. Maynard wouldn't object to Curt Little's seeing the old doctor friend that had haunted the hospital for days—brokenly begging information as to whether Mr. Little would live.

She smiled appealingly:

"No—Mr. Little, the young man isn't here yet—there's a little delay, I guess. But there's a Dr. Sawyer out in the lobby who has been waiting for several days to see you. He says he's an old friend of your family."

Curt's head swam dizzily. Dr. Sawyer—at last. He said slowly:

"Yes—I'll see him. Privately, please."

Miss Hanvin went out. There was only one thing that mattered. He must find out who Thomas Curtis Smith Jr., was. Even at the price of seeing the man he hated with every breath.

A moment later Curt Little saw through a red haze Mansfield Sawyer framed in the doorway. The same handsome Dr. Sawyer, a little stockier and slightly stooped with age.

But there were the same pigeon-gray eyes, and the black hair that was touched a bit with white. It was Sawyer who spoke first:

"Well, Tom—we meet at last."

A bitter smile twisted Curt's lips as he gazed steadily at the man he had hated with every fibre of his being for 20 years. Dr. Sawyer saw the venom in the sick man's eyes. It was amazing that a man could hate another so much. Finally Curt was able to speak. He smiled sarcastically.

MOLEY TAKES OVER CRIME CAMPAIGN

Justice Department Agents Assigned to Ur-schel Kidnap Case.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—(P)—Signaling the start of a new phase of the government's anti-crime campaign, high federal officials today started a series of conferences at the call of Raymond Moley to seek ways of unifying federal and state activities.

Meanwhile, department of justice agents who recently have aided in solving four kidnaping cases were assigned to hunt down the abductors of Charles F. Urschel, wealthy Oklahoma City oil man.

Moley, an assistant secretary of state appointed by President Roosevelt to investigate the crime situation, started his new duties by conferring with Attorney-General Cummings.

Joseph B. Keenan, special assistant in charge of anti-racketeering efforts, declined to go into details concerning the Urschel inquiry, saying that might interfere with the investigation. He said, however, the agents were sent with his approval.

The special assistant also announced he had been assured by two manufacturers of submachine guns, the only ones in this country, that they would sell the weapons only to the federal government or its subdivisions and would endeavor to prevent them from falling into the hands of criminals through a system of checking the numbers on the guns.

He added that when the investigative section of the bureau of prohibition is transferred to the division of investigation of the department of justice on Thursday, prohibition agents fitted for the work would be assigned to criminal work.

renewed offensive to bring all of industry into NRA membership.

He gave approval to temporary wage and hour provisions for the magazine and periodical, electrical storage and wet primary battery and paperboard manufacturing industries, and then lashed out at "various racketeers having for their object the getting of money in connection with the NRA."

"Publications using misleading titles, conveying the impression that they are sponsored by the national recovery administration, are attempting to charge merchants, manufacturers and others for listing as being entitled to the use of the blue eagle banner," Johnson said in a statement.

"Minor form is that of some local newspaper associations charging businessmen for listing their names on what purports to be an honor list. "None of these enterprises has the slightest countenance of the national recovery administration."

"The national recovery administration wishes to warn people against these projects, of course, this organization has no control over the advertising columns of papers beyond insisting that no bootlegging of the blue eagle emblem shall be permitted, but so far as countenancing any charge for inclusion of an honor roll, people submitting to such extortion are not only wasting their money but encouraging a form of petty graft."

Johnson added that prompt action would be taken when complaints are received.

Forty-hour weeks are prescribed in the codes today, for the three industries which were permitted to operate under their own agreements pending formal hearings.

For the magazine and periodical plants a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour for men and 35 cents for women was fixed for workers in manufacturing processes, with a 32 1-2 cent minimum for women doing clerical work.

The battery code provided a 40-cent an hour minimum unless the wage on July 15, 1929, was less, in which case that would become the minimum unless it was below 30 cents an hour.

Little Progress.

Contrasting with the streams of hearings during the past few weeks, only two were in progress today—well paper and corsets.

Meanwhile, spokesmen for newspaper publishers continued their conferences with Dudley Cates, an assistant administrator. They submitted an agreement which was immediately studied by the administration's legal department, pending a decision whether it would be acceptable for immediate application until hearings could be held.

On Wednesday, the hearings begin on the controversial code for the bituminous coal industry, with more than 20 tentative agreements to be harmonized.

Meanwhile, deputy administrators were seeking to work out an agreement upon codes for steel and oil, hearings for which have been completed and spokesmen for druggists were conferring with officials over their proposed code asking longer working hours and lower minimum wages than are fixed for other retailers.

High Ginning Prices

Bring Alabama Probe

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 7.—(P)—Seth P. Storrs, commissioner of agriculture, today called upon General Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, to take vigorous action against cotton ginners in south Alabama whom he declared were violating the Sherman act by charging from $8 to $8 a bale for ginning.

The commissioner planned to confer today with United States District Judge C. B. Kennamer here, and also requested Solicitor Hubert Farmer, of Houston circuit court, to arrange a special session of the grand jury to investigate the alleged violations of the Alabama agricultural code which prohibits price-fixing.

"I have in my possession written evidence that ginners are charging as high as $8.05 a bale for ginning cotton," Mr. Storrs said. "And I am sending this telegram to General Johnson and to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace."

had known him about three years, but was unable to tell much about his personal life.

Meanwhile continental police in France and Italy were asked to contact Bancroft Mitchell, son of the former United States attorney-general, who was said by Queens authorities to have been associated with Sanborn and William McNair in the purchase of stock in a Connecticut brewery.

Mitchell sailed for Europe July 22, and was believed not to have heard of Sanborn's death.

Although the finding of more than $500 in cash and more in checks in Sanborn's pockets virtually eliminated the theory he may have been slain in a robbery attempt, police said they still had been unable to account for the remainder of $2,000 Sanborn withdrew from a bank shortly before he disappeared.

When they returned to his room they announced they would try to find an address book Sanborn is supposed to have kept, with a view to tracing additional acquaintances and associates.

Sanborn, whose father was the late Judge Walter H. Sanborn, of St. Paul, Minn., was 44. He will be buried in New Hampshire, where his mother, Mrs. Emily Bruce Sanborn, is passing the summer at Milford.

He was general agent in the east for the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad.

grand jurors are unknown." The solicitor's office pointed out that when this indictment was returned for the kidnaping, which occurred on July 6 "Collins" was the only name known to the officers, Delenski at that time being unidentified.

Each alias, checked with his record, will be placed on today's bills and read, "William Randolph Delenski, Robert A. Hathaway, Grover Collins, Lee A. Williams."

The pistol charges to be submitted are new, as only kidnaping and robbery bills have been acted on in the past. The robbery charge grows out of taking Mr. Otley's car and glasses and a small amount of money.

It was pointed out in the solicitor's office that no trial can be put on the calendar until September, as there is no court until that time and no jury has been drawn before then Delenski could not be arraigned without a jury, it was pointed out.

TALMADGE URGES DEFEAT OF FOES

Ringgold, Cedar Grove
Crowds Applaud Executive's Plea for 'New Senate.'

RINGGOLD, Ga., July 7.—(Special.)—The 1934 campaign for the legislature will be fought out along state instead of local issues, Governor Eugene Talmadge told a crowd of 5,000 enthusiastic north Georgia supporters in an address here today in which he stressed his plea for representatives and senators favorable to his policies. He drew prolonged applause as he renewed his attack on the last senate which blocked the administrative program.

The large crowd which came here to hear the governor represented about a dozen north Georgia counties, its size being about five times the population of this little city of 1,000 inhabitants. Time and again the governor was interrupted by cheers from his audience or an urging to "lay it on thicker" or to "give 'em hell, Gene."

Carrying out the program he announced several weeks ago, the chief executive invaded the home district of Senator Joe Hutcheson, of LaFayette, one of the 30 members of the upper branch of the general assembly who blocked his program last January, and also the judicial circuit of Judge C. C. Pittman, of Cartersville, who recently scored the governor's martial law rule over the highway department in a grand jury charge.

It was reported that Senator Hutcheson would be present to answer the governor's attack but he failed to appear. After the governor had finished speaking a number of the senator's friends said he would occupy the same platform on the courthouse lawn some time today and answer the chief executive's attack.

Judge Pittman, who is holding court here this week, was in the audience and after the speech he came forward for an exchange of greetings with the governor. Both men smiled as they met and shook hands warmly.

The governor took occasion to laud the legislative records of Representative Jim Clarke, of Catonsville, who will make the senate race next year.

"I want you to send me more men like Mr. Clarke," Governor Talmadge said. "He was for my program and had been in the senate this time it would have received his vote."

Representative Clarke was on the platform as the governor spoke. During his address the governor renewed his attack upon the ousted members of the highway board and reviewed the hearing leading up to the dismissal of the board's public service commission. He reiterated that if the new commission did not carry out his campaign pledge to lower utility rates and freeze a raise in the state income tax, he would remove it and install a commission that would carry out that part of his program.

"Holder is gone," he assured the cheering crowd when one of his hearers asked about the fate of the former highway board chairman. "That old crowd is out forever and it just seems that they are the only ones who do not fully realize it."

After the governor's speech, Chairman Hugh Howell, of the state democratic executive committee, was introduced. He made a brief talk in which he praised the governor highly.

The governor was here as the guest of the Rev. John L. Hall, pastor of the Ringgold Methodist church, and was introduced by the pastor.

"Governor Talmadge is a man who has fulfilled his every promise to the people," the minister said. "There are thousands who believed he would carry out that program when he told us of it last summer because they voted him in office to see that he would do it. Now that he has done it, the thousands who didn't vote for him because they had heard too many such promises are cheering him just as loudly as his warmest supporters cheered him last summer."

Mayor M. L. Harris presided over the meeting. The band of the Sixth cavalry from Fort Oglethorpe furnished music for the occasion.

Following his speech here the governor went on to Cedar Grove to participate in festivities marking the reopening of school. He made a brief address to a crowd of about 400 attending these ceremonies.

Before coming to Ringgold, the governor, with Adjutant General Lindsey W. Camp and E. E. Lindsey, a member of the state board of control, reviewed a parade of the 108th cavalry, Georgia National Guard, and the Governor's Horse Guards in summer training here. The governor and General Camp highly complimented the organization on its review. While at Fort Oglethorpe the chief executive was tendered a 10-gun salute and was honored by Colonel Gordon Johnston, the commanding officer, and Mrs. Johnston.

PETROLEUM EXECUTIVE TALKS TO TRAFFIC MEN
A. M. Stephens, traffic manager of the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky, urged the jealous guarding of transportation as one of the most important national possessions, in a speech delivered to the Traffic Club of Atlanta at a luncheon meeting at the Atlanta Athletic Club Monday.

"In our desire for faster and more flexible service, we must be careful not to destroy our existing transportation systems in which an immense amount of permanent capital is invested and which must continue to carry the bulk of our basic commodities," Mr. Stephens stated.

In summarizing the problems which must be confronted by the petroleum industry, he gave over-production as the chief problem, and transportation by rail in competition with pipe lines as the second most important.

eson would be present to answer the governor's attack but he failed to appear. After the governor had finished speaking a number of the senator's friends said he would occupy the same platform on the courthouse lawn some time today and answer the chief executive's attack.

Judge Pittman, who is holding court here this week, was in the audience and after the speech he came forward for an exchange of greetings with the governor. Both men smiled as they met and shook hands warmly.

The governor took occasion to laud the legislative records of Representative Jim Clarke, of Catonsville, who will make the senate race next year.

"I want you to send me more men like Mr. Clarke," Governor Talmadge said. "He was for my program and had been in the senate this time it would have received his vote."

Representative Clarke was on the platform as the governor spoke. During his address the governor renewed his attack upon the ousted members of the highway board and reviewed the hearing leading up to the dismissal of the board's public service commission. He reiterated that if the new commission did not carry out his campaign pledge to lower utility rates and freeze a raise in the state income tax, he would remove it and install a commission that would carry out that part of his program.

"Holder is gone," he assured the cheering crowd when one of his hearers asked about the fate of the former highway board chairman. "That old crowd is out forever and it just seems that they are the only ones who do not fully realize it."

14 SLAYINGS REPORTED IN KENTUCKY ELECTION

New Record for Violence
Set as State's Voters
Go to Polls.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Fourteen slayings, most of them attributed to quarrels over Saturday's statewide primary election, occurred over the week-end in Kentucky mountain counties. In addition ten were wounded.

The total was believed to be a record for the state. Most of the slayings were in isolated communities, attributed by officers either to intense feeling over county races, to renewal of old grudges on meeting at the polls, and in at least one instance to a quarrel over a liquor deal.

The total was increased to 14 by the deaths today of Brown Strong, 34, in Breathitt county, and Frank Brock, 23, in Bell county.

National guardsmen were on duty in Harlan county during the primary Saturday and one detachment remained there today as tabulation was started. Two of the 14 slayings occurred in Harlan shortly before the primary.

ONE DEAD, TWO IN HIDING BECAUSE OF FALSE REPORT
VANCEBURG, Ky., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Zolar Thurman, 35, was dead today, the victim of a fellow townsman's mistake.

He was shot down before a crowd of election voters at the small town of Petersville Saturday night. Today his slayers were being hunted in the hills.

Lawman and Eli Stidham, 35, argued over the election Saturday night. Thurman struck Stidham once, twice, with a rock. The man collapsed unconscious.

A bystander rushed to Stidham's brothers, John, 28, and Harrison, 30. "Zolar Thurman has killed Eli," he whispered.

With hardly a word the brothers got their shotguns. "He killed our brother and we'll kill him," a witness heard them vow as they shouldered their way into a crowd and ordered the people to stand aside.

The brothers raised their guns, took deliberate aim and, as Thurman glanced beseechingly about for a means of escape, witnesses said, the weapons blazed and he fell, riddled with buckshot.

The brothers escaped in the resulting confusion. Meanwhile the "dead" brother, Eli, had regained consciousness. His wounds were not even serious. He was placed in jail and charged with aiding and abetting a murder.

By H. A. CARTER

PROTECTIVE COLORATION.
Protective coloration in the animal kingdom may be divided into two sub-heads. First, simple protective coloration, and second, mimetic coloration. The best example of the first that I know of is the bell-frog (Hyla chrysina), found in south Georgia, which is green in color and spends much of its time perched upon green leaves. An example of the second type is that of the monarch and vicary butterflies, one of which is a member of a family preyed upon by birds, but because of its resemblance to another noxious species, is left severely alone. More about them later in this column. I will not treat such an interesting subject as an example.

Simple protective coloration reaches its pinnacle of perfection in arctic animals. The general rule is a brownish-gray fur or feather pattern in summer, and snow-white in winter. Thus the animals are enabled to stalk their prey, or remain concealed, against either a background of forest or of snow drifts. The best examples of this development are the arctic foxes, hares, and the ptarmigan. The familiar ermine is the fur or a northern weasel in winter pelage.

Cleanse, Purify Baby's Bowels With Teethina
Teethina is more than a laxative. Aside from thoroughly, but gently evacuating baby's intestines, it purifies and sweetens the bowels; prevents food fermentation and stops decomposition of fecal matter in the entire intestinal tract. That is why Teethina gives such quick and remarkable relief in constipation, gas, indigestion, occasional diarrhoea and intestinal colic. Teethina contains no opiates and can be had at any drug store for only 30c.—(adv.)

HOLDEN TO ADDRESS INTER-CITY CIVITANS

The club will meet in the Woman's Club building at 7:30 o'clock. Robert Gray, an Atlanta Kent contestant, will sing. W. S. Northcutt is president of the club and Tom Moyer is chairman of the entertainment committee.

of insect gives the robber-fly a big advantage in securing its prey. I have captured what I took to be a bumble bee, only to find that impaled on the beak of my captured insect was another insect. Thus the robber-flies capture food.

Protective mimicry includes not color alone, but form. Consider the "walking stick" insects. Aside from protective color, their entire structure is very much elongated, and conceals the insect nicely among the twigs.

North Georgia takes the palm. I collected more salamanders there this last week-end than I have ever caught in such a short period anywhere. You are going to hear from these animals later this week.

Tomorrow: Spider vs. Scorpion.

Berlin Scores France On Nazi Interference

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The German government refused today to agree with the contentions of France and Britain that Nazi political propaganda in Austria constitutes violation of existing treaties.

Berlin reminded the powers that for this reason Germany holds "this interference in the German-Austrian difficulty as inadmissible."

(Britain and France had made representations to Germany concerning propaganda activities on the Austrian border, directing the reich's attention to its responsibilities under the Mussolini four-power pact to preserve peace.)

REFUSAL TO EXTRADITE THIGPEN RECOMMENDED
A recommendation that Casey Thigpen, of Washington county, Georgia, not be extradited to Florida was made Monday to Governor Talmadge by Tom Linder, the governor's executive secretary. Linder said Thigpen was charged with inciting to commit perjury in Pinellas county, Florida, but that the evidence showed officers had delivered to Thigpen his bond. Thigpen appeared at the hearing, but the prosecution did not put in an appearance, Linder said.

When Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, who has given many years of his life to the study of the treatment of blind, bleeding and protruding piles, says and has proved that the right and best way to gain freedom from this agonizing trouble is to take Hem-Roid, why go on dallying with ointments, suppositories or think of an operation? Remove the cause and your piles will vanish no matter how severe they are or how long you have suffered.

That is why Jacobs' Drug Stores and all modern druggists are authorized to say to every Pile sufferer—take the contents of one bottle of Hem-Roid and then if your piles have not gone or haven't started to disappear—get your money back—you'll be joyfully satisfied with the quick action of this efficient formula.

A Massachusetts man writes: "I constantly suffered from piles—the first bottle of Hem-Roid ended my trouble." (Name on request).—(adv.)

Atlanta Branch of American Pen Women Makes Plans for This Winter's Program

Mrs. C. Gainer Turner, newly-elected president of the Atlanta branch of the National League of American Pen Women, announces that elaborate plans are being made by this organization for the presentation of a program this winter that will add to Atlanta's cultural and aesthetic life.

Mrs. Turner, who resides at 45 Golf circle, states that the National League of American Pen Women was organized 35 years ago by 25 American women writers, artists and composers who met in Washington, D. C., and that it is now the largest women's literary organization in the world.

Miss Lilla Wood Daniels, prominent member of the Atlanta branch, states that at the time of its inception the women composing the group were looked upon as more or less amateurs in the respective crafts which they represented, since women then scarcely dared venture upon careers of constructive, original work unless their identity was securely hidden under a nom de plume. Miss Daniels says that it was thought to be almost unwomanly to write or paint or engage in the composition of music except if they were done anonymously or in the bosom of one's family, while commercial enterprise along that line was held to be daring in the extreme.

Today the membership of this group of artistic craftsmen runs into the thousands, and branches of the organization are established not alone in

JUNIOR LEAGUE JOTTINGS

Unexpected as will be this issue of the Jottings, there is a real reason for its midsummer appearance and it is hoped that all members of the Junior League who are in the city will read and read the message this column carries today.

Recently, announcement was made that through the generosity of Asa Candler, the Junior League would sponsor a party for its members at the Candler zoo on Briar-cliff road on Saturday, August 12, the proceeds derived therefrom to go to the League ward at the Henrietta Eggleston Memorial hospital. Although, at present, no regular League meetings are being held and the decision to take over the zoo was made by the board of directors, every member of the League will, no doubt, want to do her part towards making the occasion a success if only she is informed as to what is expected of her.

In the first place, all members should be enthusiastic over the possibilities the zoo offers for unusual entertainment to every age and type of person. On Saturday the gates will be open to the public from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. and the general admission of 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children entitles anyone to remain all day, to enjoy a swim in the beautiful crystal-clear pool, and to participate in the main amusement features. A full program of special events has been arranged by Mrs. John Stewart, general chairman, and Mrs. Robert Sams, publicity chairman, and almost hourly something will be happening within the grounds. For instance, at 3:30 p. m. the pony circus is scheduled, at 4 p. m. the public is invited to watch the animals being fed, and at 4:30 p. m. the elephant circus is sure to be the center of interest. Also at 4 o'clock, Mrs. R. Frank Hill, the former Virginia Ashe, well-known Atlanta swimming champion, will conduct an aquatic exhibition in the pool, presenting at that time such stars as Dave Young, backstroke champion; Bernard Brown, breaststroke champion; Miss Betty Fugitt, diving champion, and a group of juvenile stars, including Patricia Stewart, daughter of our general chairman; Helen and Betty Roberts, and Patty and Micky Baker.

Every possible means of amusing children and adults will be utilized. In the afternoon exciting pony and elephant rides will be available to the youngsters for a small charge, as will light refreshments, balloons and other souvenirs of the occasion and at night further attention will be given to the entertainment of adults.

Anyone who has ever been within the grounds of the Candler zoo will never tire of seeing it again, and again, and anyone who has not should immediately take this opportunity to do so. Not only has it the largest privately-owned collection of animals in the world but the modern and comfortable way they are housed, fed and cared for is a pleasure to view. The setting for the zoo is one of the most uniquely beautiful spots to be seen anywhere, with the lovely swimming pool, the artistic bear cages, aviaries and various shallow pools for the sea lions and water fowl.

All Junior Leaguers are urged to come to the Candler zoo at some hour next Saturday bringing with them their husbands and children. Also members should make a special effort to interest friends and neighbors and their families to attend the zoo on this particular day. That is all the Junior League is asking us to do this time, except, of course, to pray there'll be no rain!

FRIENDLY COUNSEL BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: I have a very dear friend who was married and moved to a distant city some 10 years ago. Her husband is devoted to her, but is one of these jealous natures that is not satisfied with anything less than all of her time and affection. He has been irascible and unapproachable as far as conduct is concerned, but she has had no liberty and has come to be resentful toward him. A few years ago she wrote me very frankly describing the state of affairs and asked me to come and pay her a visit and see for myself that something had to be done. I went and after seeing how things were, I decided to talk frankly to her husband and tell him that in his greediness to possess his wife's mind, body and soul, he was going to lose her. He didn't seem to resent my interference, but was exceedingly kind and apparently sympathetic with me in my desire to help them both. Soon after that time I returned home and have not seen them since. Now my friend is writing, asking me to spend the winter with her, and I know that means that she is being smothered and wants to get air through me. What do you think my duty is in the matter? Should I go to my friend who needs me and who is begging me to come to her, or should I stay away on the ground that her husband may not be so keen to have me after I have expressed myself to him about his selfishness? I know he wouldn't openly resist my going, nor would he be enthusiastic about it as she is. The visit would necessarily be a long one, as I cannot afford to go for a short time.

Answer: There is an old proverb which says "He that passeth by, and meddles with strife, belonging not to him, is like one that taketh a dog by the ears." You were extremely lucky not to get your hand bitten the first time; you could not expect to be so lucky a second time.

If the husband is jealous, your presence would only intensify the feeling. If there had been any good to come out of your frank discussion of his failure, it would have come about before this. And if the first attempt failed, there is no hope for the second. After all, no matter how unreasonable a man may be with his wife, it is not the prerogative of a friend to tell him about it. The average husband would heartily resent such an intrusion. It is futile, too, because if the wife cannot show him his error, she cannot put the soft pedal on his vices and the loud pedal on his virtues, she cannot make sweet music with the help of all the talents her friends may possess.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Culbertson on Contract

A Question of Partnership Confidence.

By ELY CULBERTSON
World's Champion Player
and Greatest "Card Analyst"

The North and South cards given below, particularly those held by South, present a problem in bidding which cannot be covered by hard and fast rules. As a matter of fact, when this hand came up in a practice team-of-four match in New York city the North and South cards were held by two expert pairs, neither of whom for some reason, reached the lay-down game. Nevertheless the game is one which absolutely should be reached despite the interference bidding up by the opponents. In the post-mortem held after the particular game in question, the two North-South pairs blamed only themselves and after some arguing put the final decision upon the correct bidding.

West opened the bidding with one spade. There is no doubt at all about North's proper call at this point; it was to double for a Takeout. North did double and East injected the very surprising bid of two spades. The first problem comes up at this point. Should South with his 4-4-3-2 distribution and just about one honor-trick in the hand bid three hearts? In my opinion this question is a very close one. Obviously when one's partner doubles one spade he is eager to know if his partner can respond with hearts and must have very fine heart support. On the other hand, a three-heart bid by South at this point seems to me to be a little bit misleading in that North will surely look for a five-card heart suit in the South hand and certainly could not be criticized if he counted on South for either one Ace or two Kings.

You could easily run it up in an hour. A few seams to join—presto! Its finished!

Miss Malcolm Weds Mr. Sharpe at Church

The marriage of Miss Malolwyn Malcolm and Frank Sharpe took place Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock at Grace Methodist church. The Rev. Robert Tyler, former pastor of the church and intimate friend of the bride's family, performed the ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends.

The church was decorated with palms and ferns, interspersed with dahlias and gladioli. The altar was banked with palms and ferns and held a central decoration of dahlias and gladioli. Seven-branched candelabra holding white tapers were placed at either side of the altar.

Mrs. Van Wilson acted as matron of honor and the bride's only attendant, and wore a model of navy blue triple sheer, featuring close-fitting lines. Accessories to match and a shoulder bouquet of Talisman roses completed her effective costume.

Clifford A. Malcolm gave his sister in marriage and they were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Horace Sharpe.

Dark blue triple sheer fashioned the bride's modish ensemble, the gown having been made with the popular full sleeves and simple lines. With this she wore harmonizing accessories and a shoulder bouquet of Sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley.

Mr. Sharpe and his bride left for a wedding trip to Daytona and Miami Beach, Fla., and upon their return to Atlanta will reside on Parkway drive.

THE MASTERPIECE OF TIRE CONSTRUCTION

THE New Firestone SEALTYE Leakproof TUBE

Most car owners do not realize that regular tubes are porous and gradually lose air. Firestone Sealtye Tubes are manufactured by a process which makes them "Leakproof." The rubber is "sealed" against air loss—the rubber valve stem is vulcanized into the tube. Constant inflation of tires is not necessary. Mileage is increased.

Firestone SPARK PLUGS

Everyone knows that old worn Spark Plugs waste gasoline and cause power loss—Firestone engineers have developed new processes of manufacture and construction advantages that assure a hotter spark—greater power and more dependable service. Made in Firestone Spark Plug Factory.

58¢ Each In sets

Firestone Aquapuf BRAKE LINING

Smooth, worn brakes are a great risk. As a result of scientific development by Firestone engineers a new brake lining has been developed in the Firestone Brake Lining Factory that is moisture-proof—gives smoother braking action—more positive control. FREE Brake Test.

As Low As $2.40 Per Set

Firestone BATTERIES

"Half-dead" batteries are troublesome. Batteries built in Firestone Battery Factories have EXTRA Power—more dependable and last longer—Why? Because of new Firestone construction features not found in any other battery. FREE Battery Test.

As Low As $5.60 and your old battery

MAKE the Thrifty Code—your Code. Raw materials, commodities and wages are up—and going higher. When you know tire prices are going higher—it's smart to Buy Now and Save.

REMEMBER—Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires hold all world records on road and track for Safety, Speed, Mileage and Endurance.

Drive in today—we'll save you money and serve you better.

THE NEW Firestone SUPER OLDFIELD TYPE

Built to equal all first line standard brand tires in quality, construction and appearance, but lower in price—another Firestone achievement in saving money for car owners.

GALEHOUSE WEAKENS

In the eighth Galehouse showed signs of weakening, being hit for three solid blows which brought in the first Cracker score. But even those three bingles might not have knocked in a run if Pete Fleming had been playing entirely head-up. He probably was anxious to keep a runner on second and so threw there. There appeared to be plenty of time for a play at the plate, especially since Rollings, who came in from second, was trying particularly hard to run his fastest.

But it turned out that he would not have saved a shutout anyhow because Wall, Atlanta recent addition to the out garden, closed a manized home run over the left-field fence with a man on to bring in the final pair of Atlanta runs.

GET TEN HITS.

The visitors gathered 10 hits, three of them doubles, in their victory over Durham, young Atlanta chucker, and Carlos Moore, who hurled the eighth inning.

In the Pelicans' eighth, Ward's Texas league double to center and an error by Chatham on Fleming's grounder and Autry's flyout tallied the fourth and winning run.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Tennis circles today were discussing "rumor" reports that the four leading tennis players of the United States, France, Australia and England might turn professional and inaugurate international competition to rival the Davis cup play of the amateurs.

Both the World-Telegram and Evening Post carried stories that Ellsworth Vines Jr., Henry Cochet, Jack Crawford and Fredrick J. Perry might join Big Bill Tilden in the professional fold, the plan being conditional on Vines' successful defense of his American title against the other three.

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—(P)—

The stock market chose today to indulge in nothing more strenuous than a mere round of aimless and insignificant shallow boxing.

Stocks mumbled about lazily during the entire trading session. The close was narrowly irregular, with changes more or less evenly divided between the winners and losers.

Only 500,000 shares, the smallest since April 4, were traded in the Standard Statistics composite of 90 for the day of seven-tenths of a point.

Commodity markets were colorless and quiet, too, almost as if the midsummer lethargy surrounding stocks had been contagious. Trading in commodities, proceeding in a listless manner, consisted mostly in fractional changes. Cotton lost 70 to 85 cents a bale.

Foreign exchanges trailed along in the same spirit, with final quotations for the dollar generally limited to small advances.

In the stock list the utilities seemed to be singled out for selling more than any other group.

Among the utilities, Consolidated

Gas, North American and Public Service to more than a point.

Rails were soft, despite an interstate commerce commission decision refusing to sanction lower freight rates.

The steel group remained steady throughout the day. United

Steel, Bethlehem and Republic were slightly higher at the final gong. A more robust showing was made by Chrysler and Reynolds Tobacco.

The business picture was generally viewed with satisfaction in financial quarters.

Formation of the national board of arbitration, it is felt, completes all essential machinery needed to put over the recovery campaign.
